576 used now. Farewell salutation is "I'm going now; goodbye." Greeting between strangers, persons who had not seen each other for some time is "Hello, where do you come from?" No handshaking. Tübatulabal "liked to see strangers" (SM); visitors given gifts of piñons, chia, "just the same as now, we give piñons to everyone who comes up to the piñon camps" (ES); young girls enjoined to be hospitable (ante). In times of scarcity, however, food was bought; person who had stores of it "wasn't expected to give it away" (SM).

Mothers kissed children occasionally; adults did not kiss (SM).

578 Jealousy on part of man, woman, sometimes led to separations (ante; Voegelin, 1935 b, 235); jealousy over man might start 2 women fighting, but men "didn't fight that way over a woman, generally" (SM).

685 SM had never heard of any member of community
158 who deliberately set fire to others' property;
[753] insane persons (tohoyi·wut) "just had to be watched; nothing was done about them. One woman went crazy a few yrs. ago, because a witch put something in her ear and made her that way; she wouldn't go to a doctor and so she died in the Stockton asylum after she was there a year" (SM).

522 At fiestas during dances at night, if woman
[624] slipped away to keep rendezvous, when she returned
[837] dance leader would grasp her by arm, dust her off with bunch of feathers, much to everyone's amusement, woman's confusion (SM). Young mature girls, if they surprised boy of about 12 in swimming would surround him, chaff him; boy would beg to be allowed to leave and often run away crying (MM). An example of what is considered humorous occurs in anecdote of man in deer-head decoy who was mistaken for deer by mt. lion and attacked by animal; man's brother, standing off at safe distance, saw this occur, but instead of going to hunter's aid he remained where he was and "just laughed and laughed" as lion leaped on hunter.

● 181 Garcés in 1775 was hospitably received by (Palagewan?) group on unaugmented Kern and characterized the people as "affable and affectionate" (Garcés, 281). When first approached, Tübatulabal show marked reserve which can easily be mistaken for indifference, or even unfriendliness; in time,
[171] however, this reserve disappears, as Steward notes of Owens Valley Paiute (Steward, 1935, 238), and informants prove friendly, interested, generous, and honest. Men and women are generally energetic in their daily life, and attentive to detail in work. Women often voice expressions of sympathy for the young, weak, or suffering; when SM's pet dog was shot SM "cried and cried" for several [674] days. I heard of only one theft among Tübatulabal during my work with them. The older members of the group, especially, have a high reputation for dependability and trustworthiness among their white neighbors.
